

Imprint No.: 1808.043

Short Title: Virginia Almanack for 1809 (Pleasants).

Author: Bates, Benjamin (1769-1812).

Title: The Virginia Almanack, for the year of our Lord 1809: being the first after bissextile or leap year, and the thirty-third of American Independence. Adapted to the latitude and meridian of Richmond. Calculated by Benjamin Bates, of Hanover County, Virginia

Place Issued: Richmond

Issuing Press: Samuel Pleasants

Description: [36 pgs.]; (12mo).

Notes: Last page [36] carries notice for "William Lownes, book-binder and stationer;" Lownes was a brother-in-law to Pleasants, and the in-house binder at his Virginia Argus office.

This edition of the Bates almanac for 1809 differs from the five variants issued by Richmond job-printer Seaton Grantland in alliance with Alexandria bookseller Robert Gray (1808.065 & 1808.066), Petersburg publisher John Dickson (1808.041), and the Petersburg booksellers Somervell & Conrad (1808.081), as well as one he produced for himself (1808.040); while the text and tables here are identical in content to Grantland's editions, Pleasants set his version separately, and so this almanac varies in pagination, format, and length.

IVP Associated Names: Samuel Pleasants (331); William Lownes (271)
